

Shana's Table, Episode 5 Assembly and Completion

The legs and aprons for the long sides are assembled first. Glue is applied to the mortises and tenons. Shana and Libba use long bar clamps to pull the assembly together, making sure that pressure is placed directly across from where the apron joins into the legs.

The glue is allowed to cure and the next day the short aprons are glued and clamped into place.

The leg and apron assembly is centered onto the top and attached with shop made buttons. No glue used here so as to allow wood movement in the table top.

Here is the completed table ready for its new home. Thanks for following along.
